OCTOBER 2023

October is Cooperative Program Month in Southern Baptist Churches. Missions is what Southern Baptists were founded upon. If we fail to do missions and teach missions and give to missions, eventually we won't have missions. If we're going to be Southern Baptist and have a cooperative effort to send missionaries around the world and in North America, we have to have the Cooperative Program. On page 3 read about the Cooperative Program and on page 4 notice the ways Wolffork Baptist Church is engaged in missions. As we support CP Missions we are reaching around the world with the good news of Jesus.

Pastor Michael Taylor noted, "I don't see a way for us to do ministry better than through the Cooperative Program. Southern Baptists are holding the rope on this end so missionaries get to stay overseas, doing what they've been called by God to do and don't have to come home to raise funds."

In 1919 the Sunday School was organized. In the early 1940's the Women's Missionary Union was formed and the first Vacation Bible School was held. In the words of Edith Parker, "We thank God for those in the past who rendered such dedicated service and we give Him praise and glory for anything that we might accomplish."

As a Southern Baptist congregation, Wolfork Baptist Church supports missions through the Cooperative Program. The Cooperative Program allows a church our size to combine with other churches to support full-time missionaries, which is hugely important. The Cooperative Program shows the power of being united in doing God's work.

The Cooperative Program

It is the financial fuel of Southern Baptists for reaching every person for Jesus Christ in every town, every city, every state, and every nation is the Cooperative Program.

What is the Cooperative Program?

The Cooperative Program is Southern Baptists' unified plan of giving through which cooperating Southern Baptist churches give a percentage of their undesignated receipts in support of their respective state convention and the Southern Baptist Convention missions and ministries

How Does The Cooperative Program Work?

It begins with you! You give yourself first to God (II Corinthians 8:5). Next, out of gratitude and obedience to God for what He has done for you, you commit to give back to Him, through your church, a portion of what He provides. This is commonly called a tithe and represents ten percent of your income (Leviticus 27:30, Malachi 3:10).

Each Church... decides the next step. Every year our church prayerfully decides how much of its undesignated gifts will be committed to reaching people in our state and around the world through The Cooperative Program. This amount is then forwarded to our State Baptist Convention, the Georgia Baptist Convention.

Messengers at the State Convention Annual Meetings

From your church and other churches across the state we decide what percentage of Cooperative Program gifts contributed by local congregations stay in your state to support local missions and ministries. The percentage to be forwarded to the SBC for North American and international missions and ministries is also determined at this time.

Messengers at the Southern Baptist Convention Annual Meeting

From across the country messengers decide how the gifts received from the states will be distributed among SBC entities. These gifts are used by SBC entities to send and support missionaries, train pastors, and other ministry leaders; provide relief for retired ministers and widows; and address social, moral, and ethical concerns relating to our faith and families.

The bottom line – people around the world hear the Gospel and receive Christ!

The Cooperative Program is doing together what we cannot do separately.

Why Southern Baptists Embrace The Cooperative Program

- It presents a unified and comprehensive budget, throwing a funding blanket over statewide, national and international missions and ministries.
- It provides a long-term sustainability for our entities. When a church makes their missions giving as a percentage of their church budgets, it provide consistency and stability.
- It adheres to our long term Baptist principle that “we can do more together than alone.”
- The Cooperative Program mitigates competition between entities thereby allowing a balanced Acts 1:8 Strategy.
- It levels the playing field, and makes a place at the table for small and ethnic churches. Every church can stand hand in hand, shoulder to shoulder, on level ground, as partners in the gospel (large churches, small churches, new churches, growing churches, graying churches, and ethnic churches).

The Cooperative Program is essential to how the SBC brings good news for the whole world.

The History of the Cooperative Program

Since its inception in 1845, the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) has always had one mission—the Great Commission (Matthew 28:19-20). To fulfill its assigned part of this divine mandate, each SBC entity made special offering appeals to the churches. This method was referred to as the “societal” approach to missions and resulted in severe financial deficits, competition among entities, overlapping pledge campaigns, and frequent emergency appeals which greatly hampered the expanding ministry opportunities God was giving Southern Baptist. Some entities took out loans to cover operating costs until pledges or special offerings were received.

In 1919, the leaders of the SBC proposed the 75 Million Campaign, a five-year pledge campaign that, for the first time, included everything – the missions and ministries of all the state conventions as well as that of the Southern Baptist Convention. Though falling short of its goals, a God-given partnership of missions support was conceived – The Cooperative Program. Since its launch in 1925, the effectiveness of the Cooperative Program has been dependent upon individuals, churches, state conventions, and SBC entities cooperating, working toward a common goal of sharing the gospel with every person on the planet.
